

Education is the process of gaining new knowledge and experiences. A good teacher is someone who is passionate about assisting, guiding, encouraging, and inspiring children and has the necessary skills to aid in this process. Through education, students acquire the knowledge and awareness of the world that will enable them to have the experience and freedom necessary to choose a healthy direction in life. Throughout their educational journey, students learn essential values and principles that will help them to lead a positive, productive life. In large, imparting education to the students enables the development of a responsible and thoughtful society.

There are many aspects that complete the expression, what is the purpose of education. Education teaches people about the world, helps them understand their place in it, and gives them the tools needed for success, such as language and math skills. The brain is like a muscle in that the more you use it the stronger it becomes. Seeing as the brain controls a great deal of our life—from body functions, to our emotions, and even our perceptive abilities—it is of immense benefit to strengthen our brain. Through education one acquires new knowledge and experiences that are helpful in everyday life and help complete the process of starting a career. Another purpose of education is to point students in the right direction through teacher guidance. There are many key qualities to teacher guidance including: motivation, respect, positive social skills, organization, commitment, and having fun. As a teacher I will teach and encourage all of my students to become lifelong learners. A proper education leaves lasting values and principles in the minds of children.

The vision I have for my students' learning experience is that it be positive, informative, and exciting. Through challenging my students in a fun and creative way I will stimulate their minds and make them want to learn. I will delve deep into the topics we cover in order to ensure I provide a thorough education. I have a vision that I will assist in laying the foundation of a student's dreams and aspirations. I believe that a major role of a teacher is to inspire the students. Having passion throughout my teaching career will assist in bringing necessary energy into the classroom and school community which will help support those around me.

The environment in the classroom plays a large role in the students' learning capability. I believe that students learn best when they are in a comfortable, safe, positive learning environment. This will include the physical features of a classroom as well as the encouraging energy that fills the rooms. I believe that students learn best when they are interested in the subject. I feel this is an important job for the teacher, to introduce new learning in a fun, inspiring, exciting, and creative ways. I believe that this approach to teaching will help students learn best. I will encourage cooperative group settings rather than competitive settings in my classroom. I will create an atmosphere that fosters critical thinking, open discussions, and no wrong questions. Educators respect the diversity in the classroom, school, and community.

Structure and classroom management are crucial for teachers to be able to cover all the information in depth. Firm classroom rules and etiquette will enable the teacher to maintain control over the classroom. Structure and management are ongoing and the teacher must be the one in charge at all times. The students in the class need to fully understand what is expected of them. This will lead to a well organized class with students who are working effectively and cooperating with one another. The classroom should have a 100% no bullying tolerance. This policy is best constructed at the beginning of the year and is enforced all throughout the year

Class assessment plays a vital role in students' abilities. Gathering information helps a teacher be able to accurately identify strengths and weaknesses in students. The approach I will take is the more you know about what and how students are learning, the better you can plan learning activities to structure your teaching and assist their learning. Assessing students individually will assist me in addressing all the different learning styles that are in the classroom. I will encourage my students to engage in higher level thinking, challenging them throughout the school year.

Being professional is something that I will take very seriously. It is not just while you are in the classroom or school grounds, you are professional everywhere you go and you are a role model for your classroom and school. I am going to lead by example and expand my leadership roles beyond the classroom and into the community. As a teacher I will build connections and relationships with the parents and the community. I will try to go above and beyond and be involved with the school and community any way that I can. Building a positive rapport with the parents, students, co-workers and the community will be an important part of this profession that I will work hard at gaining.

Students are little seeds of knowledge that are ready to ripen and flourish. I look forward to inspiring my students towards reaching their full potential. I am especially excited about becoming a teacher and learning more about education, continually honing my teaching skills. I am honoured to have the opportunity to touch the lives of others and I will do everything I can to help my students' educational experience be rewarding and fulfilling. I will inspire my students to be lifelong learners and to have a curiosity about the world around them. I am going to put my heart into the teaching profession, and make a difference in the lives of my students.
